LEARN.

“AIJA provides first-class networking opportunities as its members span across the globe from the Americas through to the Asia-Pacific. Its unique academic programmes are tailor-made to equip the modern young lawyer with the necessary mindset, knowledge and skills to succeed.”

Engage with your peers, globally

4000+

lawyers take part in Commissions to support the association’s priorities

Exclusive to members, the 21 AIJA Commissions are volunteer-led and cover the majority of law practice areas and professional interests. They steer and shape the events and educational programmes of the association.

Membership of a Commission is one of the most important benefits of being a member of the association. Joining one or more Commissions in AIJA enables you to share best practices within your area of expertise, get involved in the association’s projects and events such as Commission meetings, Commission-led seminars, Commission sessions at the AIJA Annual Congress or the Half-Year Conferences, and Commission social gatherings.

NETWORK.

"Within a few years of active participation in AIJA, it is possible to develop a network of deep-rooted relationships with colleagues from all over the world, all that while having an awful lot of fun! AIJA is the best gift a lawyer can give him/herself!"

Build connections with a diverse network of 4,000+ lawyers in 100+ countries:

- Connect with others who share a common purpose by participating in Commissions, committees, and events
- Participate in national and regional gatherings organised by the AIJA National Representatives, your main local contacts
- Interact with members through the forum and chat on the online member portal MyAIJA
- Identify new contacts in your jurisdictions or others via the MyAIJA online directory
- Join conversations with other members on LinkedIn and WhatsApp groups moderated by the AIJA Commissions

DEVELOP.

“AIJA is home to all young lawyers who are looking to learn and expand their professional network in a friendly and dynamic environment. The more you want to get involved, the more you can be, for instance by participating in the organisation of Commissions activities. What I love about AIJA is that I made new friends and developed new business opportunities while discovering new cultures, improving my public speaking, team work and management skills. To me, AIJA is priceless.”

Member governed; volunteer driven

Develop new skills or improve existing skills, expand interests, meet new people, have fun and contribute to the AIJA community with your experience and expertise.

Members can volunteer in activities related to events, committees, Commissions, and publications. They are a vital part of the AIJA community, offering freely their time to help with the different activities and events of the association, or starting new projects.

Some volunteer opportunities:

Events Organising Committee

You can volunteer to organise events on behalf of the association all over the globe.

Commission Officer

You can take on a President or Vice-President role to lead a group of members in their area of practice.

Executive Committee

You can stand for election as EC member to advise the Bureau on priority topics for the association and membership.

Standing Committees

You can also be part of a committee leading on membership, Commissions work programmes, or the educational programme of the association.

Coaching

Free professional coaching is offered at least three times a year, during the Half-Year Conferences and the Annual Congress.

Skills: Master lectures

Skills based classes delivered online by professionals to equip lawyers with the necessary knowledge and frameworks to succeed in their profession.

Speaking opportunities

Speak at events

With more than 20 in-person and online events organised every year, there are plenty of opportunities to share your knowledge, get personal exposure, and network with peers at AIJA and partner events.

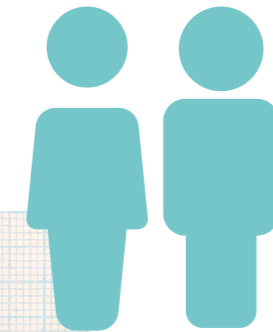

Be a guest in the SpotlightAIJA podcast

Make your voice heard in a community of more than 4,000 international lawyers by sharing your views and experience on topics such as innovation, technology, leadership, marketing, creativity or branding.

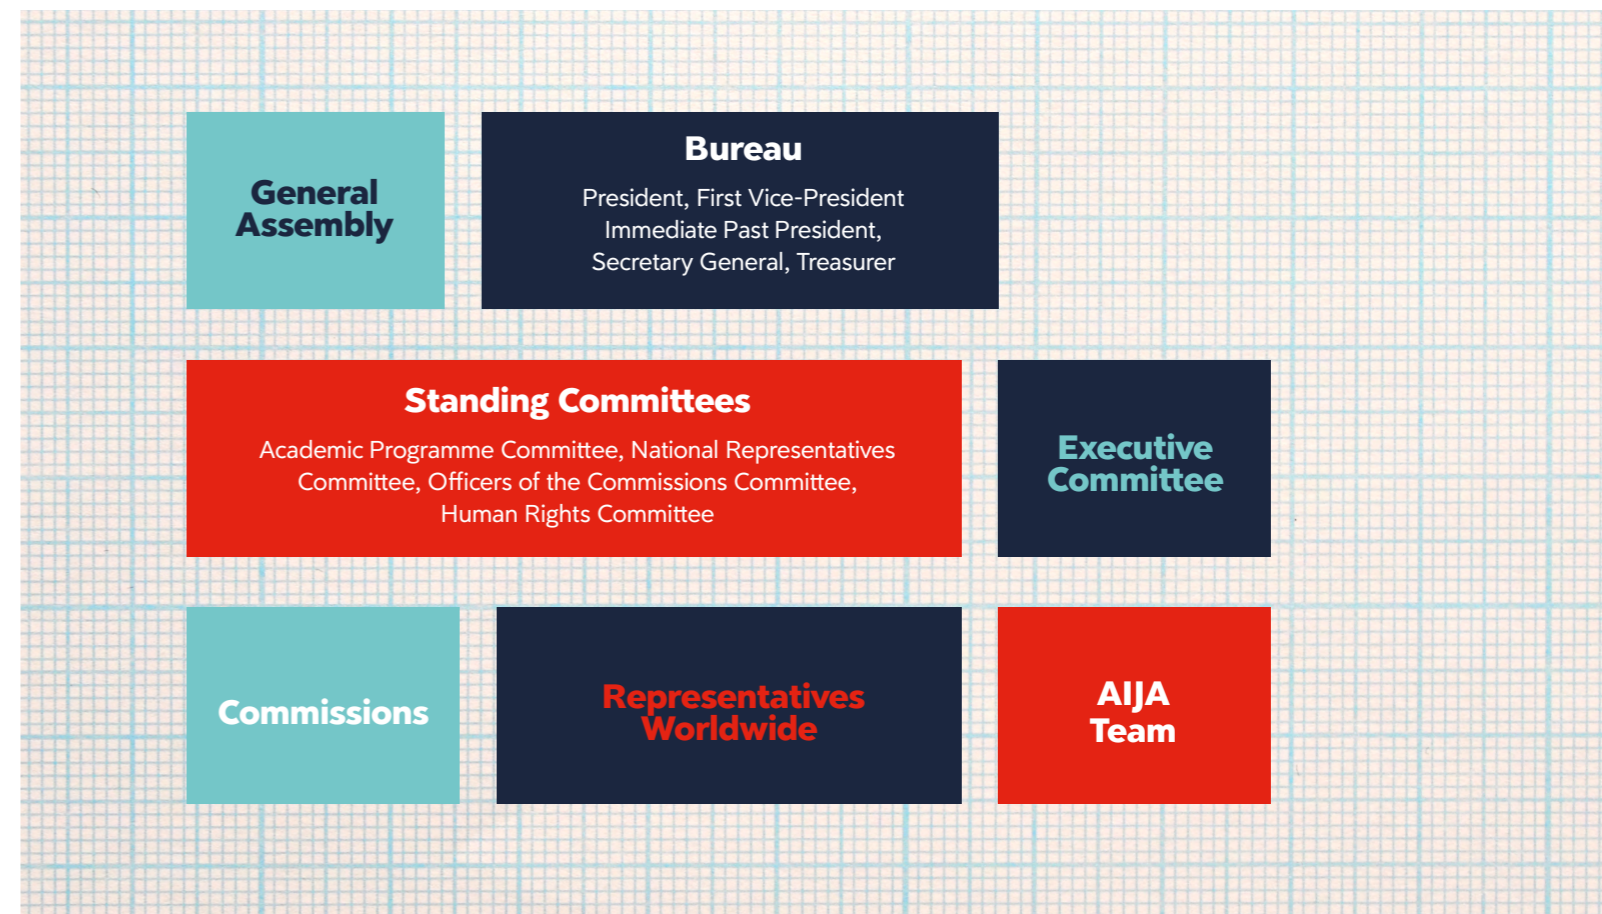

Scholarships

The AIJA scholarship programme enables fresh graduates and law students to attend AIJA events worldwide. It can cover up to 100% of all costs related to an event, including attendance, accommodation and travel.

OUR STRUCTURE

AIJA fulfils its mission to provide outstanding international opportunities for young lawyers to network, learn and develop with the support of several bodies in the organisation.

General Assembly

Bureau

President, First Vice-President
Immediate Past President,
Secretary General, Treasurer

Standing Committees

Academic Programme Committee, National Representatives
Committee, Officers of the Commissions Committee,
Human Rights Committee

Executive Committee

Commissions

Representatives Worldwide

AIJA Team

Commissions

The 21 AIJA Commissions cover major law practice areas and professional interests. AIJA events are organised and run by members through the Commissions. The Commissions also publish newsletters or reports. They meet regularly during the year. Each Commission is led by a President and supported by Vice-Presidents.

Bureau

The association is administrated by a Bureau composed of five members: President, First Vice-President, Secretary General, Treasurer and Immediate Past President. The First Vice-President is elected by the ordinary General Assembly, one year before starting his/her one-year mandate of president of the association.

The Secretary General and the Treasurer are also elected by the General Assembly for 2-year mandates.

Standing Committees – the Extended Bureau (EB)

The EB is composed of the co-chairs of the Officers of the Commissions Committee, the Academic Programme Committee, the National Representatives Committee and the Human Rights Committee.

Officers of the Commissions Committee (OCC)

The OCC coordinates the activities of the Commissions and, through them, the substantive work of AIJA.

Academic Programme Committee (APC)

The APC is responsible for the academic content of AIJA events. At its meetings, the upcoming seminars and other events are discussed and coordinated with Commission members involved in the events planning.

National Representatives Committee (NRC)

The NRC is responsible for membership retention and recruitment activities, in coordination with Regional Coordinators, National, Local and Regional Representatives. At the local level, the AIJA National Representatives are the primary contacts for members.

Executive Committee (EC)

The EC, formed mainly by 48 individual AIJA members elected by the General Assembly, assists and advises the Bureau and is responsible for approving applications for membership in AIJA, as well as for appointing the National Representatives of the countries represented in the Association. Each elected Committee member has a three-year term.

General Assembly (GA)

The GA, composed of all members of the association having voting rights, meets at each Annual Congress. The Assembly decides on financial and governance matters. The Assembly also elects the First Vice-President, the Executive Committee members, the Secretary General, and the Treasurer notably through electronic voting.

Human Rights Committee

The Human Rights Committee is involved in several projects dedicated to the protection of the rule of law and the right of every lawyer to practise their profession freely.

AIJA Team

The AIJA Team provides secretariat support for the different membership groups and ensures timely implementation of all programmes and events.
